Welcome!

To enhance your stay, we have compiled useful information and services you may find useful.

Please note that we are a working college with students present year-round.

Some buildings date back to the seventeenth century and have uneven floors and steps, so please exercise caution.

A telephone is available in the porters lodge and can be used free of charge by guests to make internal or external local/national landline calls only.

Please familiarize yourself with the Fire and First Aid Procedures included in this folder. For your security, we recommend keeping your room locked at all times.

The Bursary team are on hand 24/7 should you require any assistance.

We hope you enjoy your stay.
A Brief Introduction to Harris Manchester College

Harris Manchester College was founded as the Warrington Academy in 1757 and re-established in Manchester in 1786. John Dalton, known for his atomic theory, became a professor in 1793. In 1840, Queen Victoria’s Royal Letter in Council made it a Collegiate Society of the University of London.

In 1889, the College moved to Oxford, joining the University of Oxford in 1990. It became the thirty-ninth College of Oxford in 1996, renamed Harris Manchester College after a benefaction from Lord Harris. Following the merger of Templeton and Green Colleges, it is now the thirty-seventh College of Oxford.

Harris Manchester admits students over 21 for Oxford degrees, fostering a small, friendly community of undergraduates, postgraduates, and medical students.
